FROM OUR CEO

WE WIN BY FORGING PARTNERSHIPS, BY FINDING NEW SOLUTIONS TO OLD PROBLEMS AND BY INSPIRING INDIVIDUALS TO JOIN THE FIGHT AGAINST OUR MOST DAUNTING SOCIAL ISSUES.

transportation, housing, food security, literacy, and abuse/safety. Each coalition has a facilitator who helps focus and guide the work of the participants. We have been blessed to have great corporate involvement in this effort. Marathon Petroleum Corporation, Cooper Tire & Rubber Company, Whirlpool Corporation, Rowmark, and Ball Metal have provided individuals from their companies who have been trained to facilitate the ongoing work of the coalitions. We also have two retired gentlemen who are lending their expertise to the process.

The University of Findlay created The Center for Civic Engagement (CCE) in 2016 which is serving as the backbone organization to assist the coalitions. They have implemented a process to disseminate coalition work, foster interdisciplinary efforts, support coalition facilitators and assist in regional and national grant searches. While the CCE is new, it is already serving as a dispensary for information and data from the various groups. Check them out at <http://cce.findlay.edu>. This is another great example of collaboration within Hancock County. More to come!

I certainly want to give a big "shout out" to Dina and Chris Ostrander, and their campaign team, for securing pledges and donations totaling $3.27 million dollars this past year! While the need for systemic change is great, it is even greater to know that we are such a generous community. We will get at root causes and make significant change with the efforts of all of you.

Thank you for another great year.

OUR VALUES

- To work with integrity: being honest, with strong ethical principles and a sense of togetherness.
- To be a collaborator: encouraging collaboration at all times, we recognize that no community issue can be addressed by one single entity.
- To be a life changer: improving lives means bettering our community and positively impacting the lives of all who reside here.

FROM OUR BOARD CHAIR

UNITED WAY FIGHTS FOR HEALTH, EDUCATION, AND FINANCIAL STABILITY.

During my year as board chair I have been reminded that United Way of Hancock County is more than a fundraiser. We don't wait passively for a problem to address. We aren't afraid to take on the toughest challenges. United Way of Hancock County staff and board believe that together we can accomplish far more than any individual or single organization could alone. It's what we like to call "living united." Today more than ever, when the challenges we face can seem overwhelming, it is important to recognize that great things happen when we focus our collective energy on the issues that matter most.

For example, United Way's focus on access to early childhood education for families who can't afford it is critically important to our community's long term growth. With two young children, I have become increasingly aware of the deficits that exist in Hancock County related to prekindergarten education. When my now third grader started kindergarten, I became a room volunteer. I was shocked that there were children who were 5 or 6 years old who could not identify a letter of the alphabet. United Way's preschool initiative has made it possible for children of low-income, working families to have the very important prekindergarten experience.

We also know that if we reach children in their prekindergarten years, they do better in school. Further down the road they become a part of our growing workforce. As United Way's board chair, I appreciate the board's willingness to fund this program. I also greatly appreciate the partnership with the Community Foundation as they fund this program with us.

I also want to express my gratitude to the 31 community volunteers who put in countless hours reviewing grants. I am amazed at the amount of thought and background research that goes into granting the funds to programs that show effectiveness and efficiency. Their work makes me proud to be part of an organization that impacts so many people.

Thank you donors, staff and volunteers, for choosing to LIVE UNITED for Hancock County.

TRENKAMP SELECTED AS SECOR SCHOLAR

United Way of Hancock County's Secor scholarship committee has announced the selection of Jordan Trenkamp, a senior at Van Buren school, as this year's United Way Foundation Secor Scholar. The $2,000 renewable Secor Scholarship was established as a memorial to the Steven and Doris Secor bequest.

Trenkamp, the daughter of Doug and Kris Trenkamp, was selected because of her volunteerism, academic accomplishments, involvement in extracurricular and school activities and her ability to exemplify leadership skills.

"Jordan has given her time to Gliding Stars for the last 6 years. She decided she wanted to be a coach, but did not want to be paid. This action shows that Jordan is dedicated to our program and is not interested in any personal gain," said, Cindy Bregel, executive director of Gliding Stars, an adaptive ice skating program for individuals with disabilities.

Alyssa Brown, director of youth ministries at St. Michael Church, said, "Jordan has been deeply engaged with the youth program at St. Michael Parish specifically through the youth board. Every other week, she dedicates an additional two to three hours to the various youth ministry programs."

Trenkamp's service oriented involvement additionally includes volunteering with Silver Blades Figure Skating club, the ENGAGE Youth Council, St. Michael's Belize Outreach program, St. Michael's music ministries and more.

In her Secor application, Trenkamp wrote, "Volunteerism and service to me is happiness. Life is a classroom and adaptable to comply with anyone's liking. The path of life sets its course to teach someone and build happy memories along the way. The two biggest parts of my path that have had this effect on me have been volunteer work and service, which go hand in hand."

PADULA SELECTED AS DISTINGUISHED VOLUNTEER

United Way of Hancock County has selected Michael "Chick" Padula Jr. as this year's recipient of the Jeri Bjorling Memorial Distinguished Volunteer Award.

Padula is retired from Cooper Tire and Rubber Company where he served his 24-year career in many positions including: production engineer, electrician, plant engineer, staff engineer, special assignments engineer and plant assistant human resource manager. He is currently the president of the Findlay Area Human Resource Association (FAHRA). He has an associate's degree of applied science in electronic technology, a bachelor's degree in industrial technology and a master's degree in business. He has taught human resources and organizational development classes at Owens Community College, the University of Findlay and Tiffin University.

Padula's selection is due to his ongoing volunteer activities for United Way of Hancock County as well as many other community organizations. Prior to his retirement, he led internal United Way fundraising efforts at Cooper Tire while serving on the education, health and financial stability impact teams for United Way. Impact teams evaluate grant requests and make recommendations for the distribution of funds to local nonprofit organizations. While retired, he continues to chair one of the two education impact teams. He is also a member of the transportation coalition and the Raise the Bar Hancock County high school/post-secondary committee.

Padula says that volunteering for Special Needs Day is his favorite volunteer opportunity. During the event, he helps the children go fishing. He has also been a volunteer for Car Tunes on Main since its inception in 2007. Some of the events he has volunteered for include: United Way's Days of Caring, Open Arms' Walk a Mile in Her Shoes, Susan G. Komen Race for the Cure, Coats for Christmas, 1 Matters Hancock County, and the Hancock County Home Builders Association annual golf outing. He also volunteers for The Arts Partnership, Habitat for Humanity and was on the Halloween parade committee for five years.

Padula is a 2012 Hancock Leadership graduate, a 2013 Government Leadership graduate and serves as a poll worker in Hancock County.

2016 NONPROFIT LEADER OF THE YEAR

United Way of Hancock County awarded the Nonprofit Leader Award for the first time in 2015 during the Chamber of Commerce's Small Business Awards ceremony. Nominations were taken from the community and a committee from the Chamber of Commerce reviewed and selected an individual who best represents the nonprofit community in leadership, dedication to their respective field, community collaboration and vision.

This year the award was presented to Brent Finlay, CEO of the Findlay Family YMCA. Finlay has been in the position of CEO at the YMCA since December of 2012. He is a member of the Findlay Rotary Club and serves on the board of the Findlay Hancock County Chamber of Commerce and Hancock Youth Soccer Association. Finlay is a certified National YMCA Organizational Leader and is a staff development trainer for the YMCA of USA movement. He attended the University of North Dakota and University of Idaho majoring in exercise science and education. He also completed his MBA degree in business management.

During his tenure in Findlay, Finlay has shown a consistent ability and willingness to work closely with community partners as he serves the community through his role at the Findlay Family YMCA.

2016 COMMUNITY PARTNER AWARD

The Community Partner award is presented annually to the small business or organization that exemplifies a supportive, collaborative relationship with not only United Way, but the community, to measurably improve people's lives. In 2016, we honored The Findlay-Hancock County Community Foundation.

Kathy Kreuchauf and her team exemplify the concept of working as a community partner. They work tirelessly in their capacity building among the nonprofit sector as well as their community building on projects that enhance the quality of life in Hancock County. The United Way team has thoroughly enjoyed working with The Community Foundation on multiple projects and looks forward to future collaboration.

COLLABORATIVE PROGRAMS OF 2016

UNITED WE FIGHT.

WE FIGHT FOR FINANCIAL STABILITY.

We win by partnering with HHWP Community Action Commission, Ohio Benefit Bank, and Volunteers in Tax Assistance (VITA) to provide our residents with free tax preparation services. Our goal is to ensure residents receive qualifying tax credits at no cost creating the opportunity to achieve or maintain financial stability. This outcome also increases local spending in Hancock County. The stats: 2,023 tax returns completed, federal refunds received $2,420,359.

WE FIGHT FOR ACCESS TO PRESCRIPTION MEDICINE.

We win by promoting the FamilyWize prescription card program. There are friends and neighbors with ongoing health challenges who are often confronted with choosing between a much-needed prescription or buying food. This program can reduce prescription costs from 40-70% on certain medications. The free FamilyWize card is available at local nonprofits and can be used with any insurance card. You can also download the smart phone app and have it with you at all times. Visit Familywize.org to view the 60,000 cooperating pharmacies and the medication listings. The stats: $29,421 in savings for Hancock County families in 2016.

WE FIGHT FOR INFORMATION AND RESOURCES.

We win by providing a staffed information and referral service to address the needs of Hancock County residents. By dialing 2-1-1, callers seeking assistance will be connected to a live specialist available 24/7, 365 days a year. The specialist recommends resources and provides detailed information such as hours of service, and required documentation for local, state and federal assistance where applicable. 2-1-1 also provides special assignments such as scheduling appointments, including tax preparation. We are here for you, in one call with one helpful voice, by dialing 2-1-1.

WE ARE HAND-RAISERS.

We win by recruiting more than 1,000 volunteers to team up and complete projects for local nonprofits. Days of Caring is a week long collaborative event between public and private sectors. Major corporations and small businesses allow employees to work with an agency for a four-hour period to tackle much needed maintenance or special projects. This saves the organization time, energy, and money allowing their efforts to remain focused on serving Hancock County clients. The stats for 2016: 1,129 volunteers, 202 teams, assisting 40 organizations, saving organizations $106,397.

WE BREAK BARRIERS AND LIFT BOUNDARIES.

We win when we lift limitations and join spirit with our special needs children and youth. We LIVE UNITED and support Boy Scouts during its one day camp for special needs children and youth in Hancock County. In September, 195 youth were paired with volunteers and staff from United Way, Marathon Petroleum Corporation, Blanchard Valley Health System and Awakening Minds Art to experience Camp Berry at its finest. This day provides barrier-breaking activities such as fishing, crafts, archery, canoeing, wall climbing, archery and more.

UNITED WAY IS NOT ONLY A FUNDRAISER. We don't wait passively for a problem to address. We aren't afraid to take on the toughest challenges. We won't approach you with vague requests and undefined causes, and we won't give up when the going gets tough.

WE FIGHT FOR EFFICIENT WAYS TO FEED HUNGRY FAMILIES.

Surveys performed by the Halt Hunger Initiative at Hancock County food pantries revealed the most needed food items are protein-based foods. As a Halt Hunger Initiative advisory board member and grain manager for Legacy Farmers Cooperative, Mitch Welty saw an opportunity to meet the local need for protein while engaging youth involved in the Hancock County Junior Livestock Auction. In 2016, we were able to provide nearly two tons of turkey, freezer beef and pork to local food pantries. Started in 2014, the effort has provided approximately 8,000 pounds of fresh meat to local families. Donors for the 2016 livestock auction were:

Donations to United Way of Hancock County allow us to grant funding to select nonprofit organizations that are delivering measurable results and helping our most vulnerable neighbors live better lives.

HALT HUNGER INITIATIVE

The most recent survey from Feeding America's Map the Meal gap is telling us that one out of nearly eight individuals in Hancock County are identified as food insecure. This is an improvement from our 2012 ratio of one out of every six. We welcome the improvement. However, for that one person who is not at the table, the struggle is real. To ensure individuals and families have access to supplemental meals, the Halt Hunger Initiative funding stream continues to support the following agencies in their efforts to address the needs of the food insecure in Hancock County: Lutheran Social Services Choice Food Pantry; Christian Clearing House's Caring Cupboard food voucher program, Salvation Army's Emergency Food Pantry; West Ohio Food Bank's Food Distribution service and Cancer Patient Services Supplemental Food Program.

As the food security coalition continues applying Civic Lab's coalition building process, its challenge is to provide access to resources to elevate and empower Hancock County households to be food secure.

ON THE BALL TO BETTER HEALTH

The latest research on childhood obesity underscores the measurable progress in communities where United Way and others are bringing people and organizations together to advance youth health.

the Ball to Better Health program. Students were issued a 55-centimeter exercise ball along with an exercise and nutrition booklet and journal. For six weeks, students were challenged to exercise at least 20 minutes a day with or without their exercise ball and record their healthy choices. In order for proper completion, parents or caregivers were required to sign the students' journal on a bi-weekly basis. Special educators from Hancock Public Health and the Hancock County Ohio State Extension office were invited into the classroom to share extra tips on how to establish habits for a healthy lifestyle. Upon completion of the six-week program students submitted essays expressing what they learned during the program.

Many of the comments this year included a recognition of the importance of eating the right food and an awareness of better food choices and proper portion size. Congratulations to Darius on his hard work and determination to be "On the Ball to Better Health."

FROM OUR CAMPAIGN CO-CHAIRS

As campaign co-chairs in 2016 we wanted to focus our efforts on enabling people to contribute by recruiting new companies around the county and encouraging them to run a campaign in 2016. Between the efforts of our campaign cabinet and United Way staff, we are happy to report that 20 new companies were added to the United Way annual campaign family. Combined with the generosity of the companies and individuals that participate year-in and year-out we received of $3.27 million in pledges and donations – a new record for Hancock County!

Congratulations to our entire community. You are the real winner here. Thank you to the staff, cabinet and team members, and to the entire Hancock County community. You stepped up and delivered outstanding results in 2016! In fact, we were so encouraged by the momentum that was generated in 2016, we've decided to continue our efforts as the United Way co-chairs in 2017 to ensure continuity and to accelerate the efforts around triggering new campaigns across the county. We want to enable every working individual an opportunity to participate in giving back to our wonderful community.

United Way of Hancock County's workplace campaign unites employees and gives them an opportunity to donate, volunteer and speak out for causes that matter to them. You can see the results in our own backyard. You are part of a larger mission to improve lives community wide.

ANNOUNCING...OUR NEW COMPANY RECOGNITION PROGRAM

Who doesn't appreciate a little competitive spirit, especially when it improves lives in Hancock County? United Way of Hancock County announces our new company recognition program. Each year, starting in 2018 for the 2017 fundraising campaign, we will recognize workplaces that show outstanding leadership in their company's United Way campaign. The following awards will be presented at the 2018 annual meeting in the categories of small employer (1-49 employees), mid-sized employer (50-499 employees), and large employer (500 or more employees).

Illuminate Awards:

Three awards will be given in each category to small, mid-sized and large companies:

- Company with the highest average employee gift of $100 or more
- Highest percentage of employee participation
- Largest campaign increase from previous year
- Highest number of employees contributing $750 or more

Ignite Award:

This award is for the best new campaign.

Fired Up Award:

Recognizes the organization who took the box, shook it up, and ran the most creative, fun and interactive campaign.

LIVE UNITED Award

Recognizes a campaign team or individual who leads an exceptional employee campaign, demonstrates excellent leadership, has innovative ideas, admirably increases employee participation and/or employee giving and completes campaign by December 1st 2017. This team or individual exemplifies how Hancock County can LIVE UNITED.

Additional information:

Employee participation is calculated based on the total number of employee's gifts divided by the total number of employees in Hancock County at the start of the workplace campaign.

Annual percentage increase/decrease is calculated based on the information pulled from the United Way of Hancock County database.

Campaign performance is based on the overall change from previous year's campaign totals.
