OHIO'S 911 GOOD SAMARITAN LAW

Seek Help and Save a Life

The 9-1-1 Good Samaritan law provides immunity from minor drug possession offenses for qualified individuals that make a good faith effort to obtain emergency medical assistance during an overdose.

Who will be a qualified individual, and what are minor drug possession offenses?

Qualified individuals are individuals that: seek assistance for another individual that experiences a drug overdose; experience a drug overdose and seek assistance; and experiences an overdose and become the subject of another person seeking medical assistance.

What are the responsibilities of qualified individuals to receive immunity?

Qualified individuals must comply with peace officers and get a behavioral health screening within 30 days of the overdose.

Confidential help for opioid overdose survivors.

Quick Response Team (QRT)

If you or someone you love has experienced an overdose, we're here and we can help.

The Hancock County QRT Team is a service that works with law enforcement to respond to non-fatal overdose survivors to engage them in treatment.

OUTPATIENT care involves health or mental health care within the community. What this generally will look like is you will go to a provider for your visit, which might include seeing a prescriber for medication, a nurse for a check-up, or another professional for counseling or help. They work with you to create your recovery plan.

INPATIENT care means you are admitted to a hospital on a doctor's order. In general, inpatient care usually involves a short hospital stay, but can be long-term depending on what you need.

MAT Medication Assisted Treatment (MAT) is the use of FDA-approved medication, usually in combination with therapy and recovery supports, for the treatment of opioid addiction or substance use. Physicians prescribe a medication based on a patient's specific medical needs and other factors.

RESIDENTIAL treatment (sometimes called rehab) is a live-in health care facility providing therapy for mental health and/or substance use.

COMMUNITY SUPPORT includes services that provide education, linkage, and case management to you, your family, and other important supports in your life so that you can learn to manage your symptoms and live as successfully and independently as possible. Services include skill-building tools for daily living, education about mental illness and medication, development of community supports, and case management/service coordination.

KNOW YOUR RISK FOR AN OPIOID OVERDOSE

Provided by the Medication-Assisted Treatment Collaborative of Hancock County

WHO IS AT RISK FOR AN OPIOID OVERDOSE?

Individuals using opioids for long-term pain management and individuals using heroin.

OTHERS AT RISK INCLUDE THE FOLLOWING:

- Opioid dependent
- Stopping MAT (suboxone, vivitrol, methadone)
- Discharged from emergency medical care following opioid intoxication
- Experiencing reduced tolerance due to:
 - trying to stop using on their own
 - withdrawal management (detox)
 - release from jail or prison
 - relapse of recovery
- Injecting opioids
- Using prescription opioids at higher doses than prescribed
- Using opioids in combination with other sedating substances such as:
 - alcohol
 - benzodiazepines ("benzos")
- Using opioids with medical conditions like:
 - Hep C/HIV
 - liver disease
 - lung disease or COPD
 - depression

LOW TOLERANCE = HIGH RISK TOLERANCE

Tolerance develops when someone uses an opioid drug regularly. Their body becomes used to the drug and needs a larger or more frequent dose to continue to experience the same effect. The brain adapts to the exposure, allowing the person to use more or a stronger dose without the respiratory system failing.

LOSS OF TOLERANCE

Loss of tolerance occurs when someone stops taking an opioid drug after long-term use. The longer a person is opioid-free, the more the brain will attempt to adapt back to its normal state.

When someone loses tolerance and then takes an opioid drug again, they can experience serious adverse effects, including overdose.

Most opiate overdose deaths occur in persons who have just gone through withdrawal or detoxed. Because withdrawal reduces the person's tolerance, those who have just gone through withdrawal can overdose on a much smaller dose than they used to take.

WHAT IS M.A.T.? (MEDICATION-ASSISTED TREATMENT)

Medication Assisted Treatment (MAT) is the use of FDA-approved medication, usually in combination with therapy and recovery supports, for the treatment of opioid addiction or substance use. Physicians prescribe a medication based on a patient's specific medical needs and other factors.

EFFECTIVE MEDICATIONS INCLUDE:

- Buprenorphine (Subutex, Suboxone)
- Naltrexone (Depade, Vivitrol)
- Methadone

PATHWAYS TO RECOVERY

"Recovery is a process of change through which individuals improve their health and wellness, live self-directed lives, and strive to reach their full potential" (SAMHSA, 2023). One's recovery pathway is highly personal and unique and may include a variety of different pathways aligned with the four major dimensions of recovery: Health, Home, Purpose, and Community.

Health

Overcoming or managing one's disease(s) or symptoms, and making informed, healthy choices that support physical and emotional well-being.

Medication Assisted Treatment (MAT)

Many diseases and disorders have medicinal options for treatment. Substance use is no different. MAT is a valid pathway to recovery for some and should not be discounted as trading one addictive substance for another. MAT can help people manage addiction to help maintain recovery.

Physical and Emotional Wellness

Fitness and nutrition are essential factors to restoring physical and mental health. Physical exercise can be a method to compensate for stressors, aid in relaxation, improve sleep quality, and increase ability to handle stress. Proper nutrients and hydration give the body energy to help build and repair organ tissue, strengthen the immune system, and reduce the risk of relapse.

Stress management and meditation involve recognizing signs of stress, thus minimizing long-term consequences of chronic stress on the body. Some options for dealing with stress include relaxation techniques such as exercising, proper nutrition, yoga, and spirituality.

Home

Having a stable and safe place to live.

Recovery Housing in Hancock County are designed to help those seeking recovery from a substance use disorder with the goals of rebuilding their lives and rejoining the community.

Purpose

Conducting meaningful daily activities, such as a job, school volunteerism, family caretaking, or creative endeavors, and the independence, income, and resources to participate in society.

Creative Expressions can help connect people in all stages of life or during recovery to that inner healing voice. Common methods of artistic expression include drama, dance, music, creative writing, visual arts, and photography.

In a crisis situation, please call the crisis hotline at (888) 936-7116. For additional information on local services, visit HancockHelps.org. Additional online resources may be found at these sites: hazelden.org, samhsa.gov, samhsa.gov/gains-center, recoveryanswers.org

Community

Having relationships and social networks that provide support, friendship, love, and hope.

Anonymous Groups

Alcoholics Anonymous (A.A.), Heroin Anonymous (H.A.), Cocaine Anonymous (C.A.), and Narcotics Anonymous (N.A.) are non-profit fellowships of individuals that struggle with substance consumption and use strength, hope, and comradery to assist one another in seeking and maintaining abstinence. The only requirement for participating in each group is to have a desire to stop use of that particular substance. There are no fees or dues for members. A.A., H.A., and N.A. are not allied with any sect, denomination, political party, organization, or institution. These groups provide a recovery process and peer support networks that work together to fit your needs. Learn more at: area53aa.org, heroinanonymousexchange.org, www.ca.org, and www.na.org

Other Groups and Tools

Celebrate Recovery offers people the opportunity to participate in a group fellowship where love and hope combine with seeking God's purpose for our lives at no charge. Engage in identifying feelings of HURT, recognizing HABITS, and combatting HANG-UPS. Learn more at: www.celebraterecovery.org

Self-Management and Recovery Training (SMART) is a global community of mutual-support groups. Participants find and develop the power within themselves to change and lead fulfilling and balanced lives guided by the science-based 4-Point Program®. Learn more at: www.smartrecovery.org

Spirituality can help connect us to a community, gives us a sense of purpose and groundedness, or help us feel humble as part of something greater. When we feel challenged, overwhelmed, or even excited about an upcoming new direction we're about to take, having a spiritual foundation may help find meaning and achieve overall wellness.

Technology can be a helpful recovery tool from mental illnesses or substance use. Mobile apps are currently available to connect you with a community, create a plan, log recovery time, and save money. Other tools can help manage habits, nutrition, sleep, overall wellness, and create a daily mood journal.

The LOFT

A Program of FOCUS: Recovery and Wellness Community

CREATING A CULTURE OF BELONGING

We welcome you to the LOFT! The LOFT is a program of FOCUS: Recovery and Wellness Community. The LOFT offers support to youth age 13-18 who have been impacted by mental health, substance use or trauma related issues. We aim to be a support to youth who identify that they could benefit from an environment where they can interact with peers from diverse backgrounds and similar life experiences.

Young people today face new and ever-changing challenges and the LOFT provides a space where they can navigate these challenges with a trusted adult support person. The Loft Lead and Loft Assistant both have lived experience, which helps them relate to the youth and the struggles they are facing. At the Loft we offer groups everyday and provide opportunities to connect with outside agencies such as Family Resource Center, NAMI, and Findlay Art League.

We operate largely off of the Thrive Framework that emphasizes the need for youths voices to be heard. Our efforts are aimed at helping the youth heal while working with them to help identify, uncover, and build on their strengths, and ultimately thrive. Doing so requires our staff to have intentional attention toward building and maintaining the protective and promotive factors that research indicates are associated with healthy adolescent development and well-being.

Our Four Pillars:

Home: providing youth with knowledge, skills or crafts they can take with them when they leave.

Health: providing activities that encourage movement or mental health tips.

Community: activities we do as a group to promote conversations and togetherness.

Purpose: activities providing youth with a sense of purpose, defining who they are and what they wish to achieve.

Are you a person or family member in recovery who wants to volunteer?

Become a Recovery Guide!

A Recovery Guide is a volunteer who supports and promotes recovery by helping people remove barriers and build recovery capital. Basically, Recovery Guides are people who want to help others find and maintain recovery. Recovery Guides share their knowledge, strength, and hope to help people find their own strengths and pathway to recovery.

What does a Recovery Guide do?

A Recovery Guide may be matched one-on-one with a participant in the program and commits to spending at least one hour a week with that participant.

The Recovery Guide and the participant work together to help the participant begin or maintain their recovery.

Recovery Guides also volunteer at FOCUS to interact with peers, lead classes, teach skills, or just listen. They are present throughout the community, providing peer-based support to those who need it.

Who can be a Recovery Guide? Volunteers can be:

- Individuals with personal lived experience in recovery from a mental health/substance use/trauma
- a family member of someone impacted by a mental health/
substance use/trauma.

Recovery Guides are individuals who have sustained recovery for themselves or their family. Recovery Guides are required to complete an application and training to gain the skills and knowledge needed to be a Recovery Guide.

Why should I volunteer as a Recovery Guide?

Volunteering has many positive benefits! As a Recovery Guide, you would have the opportunity to:

- Learn new skills
- Share your knowledge and experiences with others
- Network within the community
- Develop personal and professional skills
- Give back to the community
- Have a positive impact in Hancock County!

How do I get involved?

For more information, or to apply to become a Recovery Guide, call or stop by FOCUS. If you'd like to volunteer but don't think being a Recovery Guide is right for you, contact us. There are a hundred ways you can volunteer. We'd love to meet you! FOCUS provides peer-led support and resources to help people improve their health and wellness, live a self-directed life, and sustain their recovery.

Maternal Opiate Medical Support (MOMS)

A collaborative community team for the Maternal Opiate Medical Support (MOMS) program has been developed to support the health, safety and well-being of infants and the recovery of pregnant women with opioid use disorders. A family of professionals at Blanchard Valley Hospital (BVH) will establish an individualized support plan for each patient to ensure a safe and stable environment for mother and infant.

The coordination of care will take place between obstetric providers (OB), outpatient medication assisted treatment specialists, outpatient mental health providers, the BVH Labor and Delivery department and the BVH Special Care Nursery (SCN). Experienced OB and SCN staff deliver quality of care during and after pregnancy.

If not already established, staff members can link patients with an OB provider who has privileges to deliver at Blanchard Valley Hospital and a medication assisted treatment specialist.

Additionally, weekly MOMS meetings will provide education and resource information including:

- Learning how to have a healthy baby and pregnancy
- Enrolling in rewards programs
- Talking with healthcare professionals and tour maternity and special care nursery at BVH
- Smoking cessation
- Recognizing postpartum depression
- Getting ready for your baby's birth
- Learning how to provide the best care for your baby
- Accessing transportation assistance
- Finding the right resources in the community, such as baby supplies, food resources and more
- Obtaining education on Neonatal Abstinence Syndrome

The MOMS program is a collaboration between Blanchard Valley Health System, United Way and The Community Foundation.

To refer a patient or have questions, please call the BVHS Clinical Navigator of the MOMS Program.

ADDICTION & RECOVERY

WHAT IS ADDICTION?

Addiction is a treatable, chronic medical disease involving complex interactions among brain circuits, genetics, the environment, and an individual's life experiences. People with addiction use substances or engage in behaviors that become compulsive and often continue despite harmful consequences.

Prevention efforts and treatment approaches for addiction are generally as successful as those for other chronic diseases. - ASAM, 2019

ADDICTION REFLECTS THE HIGHEST LEVEL OF PROGRESSION OF A SUBSTANCE USE DISORDER.

WHAT IS RECOVERY?

Recovery is a process of change that permits an individual to make healthy choices and improve the quality of their life.

- There are many pathways to recovery. Individuals are unique with specific needs, strengths, goals, health attitudes, behaviors and expectations for recovery.
- Pathways to recovery are highly personal, and generally involve a redefinition of identity in the face of crisis or a process of progressive change.
- Furthermore, pathways are often social, grounded in cultural beliefs or traditions, and involve informal community resources, which provide support for sobriety.

LANGUAGE MATTERS

Language is powerful – especially when talking about addictions. Stigmatizing language perpetuates negative perceptions. Person-first language focuses on the person, not the disorder. When discussing addictions...

SAY THIS . . .

person with a substance use disorder person living in recovery person living with an addiction person arrested for drug violations chooses not to at this point medication is a treatment tool had a set back maintained recovery
positive drug screen

. . . INSTEAD OF THIS

addict, junkie, druggie
 ex-addict
 battling/suffering from an addiction drug offender
 non-compliant/bombed out medication is a crutch
 relapsed stayed clean
 dirty drug screen

HOW TO SUPPORT SOMEONE IN RECOVERY

- Don't judge. Many people in recovery feel judged by their family and friends. Accept them for who they are and refrain from criticism and negativity.
- Be patient. Recovery can be a long, complicated process. People often have set-backs. It's important for them to know that you support them when things get tough.
- Reinforce that recovery is possible. Like other chronic diseases, people can manage addictions successfully.
- Actively listen. Take notice of your loved one's victories and struggles.
- Encourage healthy habits. Cooking, exercising and playing games are all positive, substance-free activities you can do with a person in recovery.
- Suggest a support group. Support groups allow people in recovery to interact with and receive encouragement from others who struggle with addiction.
- Continue to offer encouragement and support. Emphasize that it takes a lot of courage to get help for an addiction.
- Take care of yourself. Take time to participate in activities you enjoy. Spend time with others, or consider joining a support group for friends and families of people with addictions.

TIPS FOR TALKING WITH A LOVED ONE ABOUT THEIR SUBSTANCE USE

- Treat the person with respect and dignity.
- Talk with them in a quiet, private place when both of you are sober and calm.
- Try to understand the person's own perception of their substance use. Ask if they believe their substance use is a problem.
- Consider the person's readiness to talk about their substance use.
- Do not force the person to admit they have a problem.
- Express your point of view by using "I" statements, like "I have noticed..." or "I am concerned..."
- Identify and discuss their behavior rather than criticize their character.
- Let the person know that you are concerned and willing to help.
- Listen without judging the person as bad/immoral.
- Do not label or accuse the person of being an "addict."
- Have realistic expectations for the person – learning to manage a brain disease takes time.
